5000m² Manufacturing Warehouse

A 5000m² manufacturing facility provides ample space for various manufacturing operations or bulk storage. With a 5-meter internal height, it offers decent vertical clearance for most activities. The availability of a secure industrial park ensures the safety and protection of the facility and its contents.

Having plenty of 3-phase electrical supply is advantageous for manufacturing operations, as it supports the use of heavy machinery and equipment that typically require three-phase power. This feature allows for efficient and reliable power distribution throughout the facility. The versatility of the facility, being suitable for both light and heavy manufacturing, means that a wide range of industries can
